

French traditions for talking: developing spontaneous speaking

Thursday 6 December, 2018

Friends House, 173 Euston Road, London NW1 2BJ

Limited early bird places available for £145 + VAT

Sessions led by leading academics

Philippe Marlière, Professor of French and European Politics at University College London

Make confident, spontaneous speakers of your students through teaching
Francophone traditions.

- Learn the principles behind target-language teaching to enable your students to manipulate the language and speak spontaneously.
- Engage students from KS3 to KS5 with culture, games and scaffolding to increase motivation and the amount of target language spoken in your classroom.
- Broaden your range of teaching strategies to develop student interactional language from day one and create advanced linguists.
- Expand your bank of stimulating and transferable resources and your knowledge of a diverse range of Francophone customs and traditions.

Prices (subject to VAT at 20%)

Limited early bird places available for £145 + VAT

£195 + VAT (Schools Programme members)

£295 + VAT (non-members)

£145 + VAT (places from the same department)

For more information, contact:

E: events@ptieducation.org

Ph: 020 3174 1235

This day is for you if:

- You would like to gain resources and innovative ideas to increase spontaneous speaking, designed to meet the new GCSE and A Level specifications.
- You want to eliminate learning by rote, the drilling of set phrases and use of support mats.
- You would like to equip students with the skills to speak spontaneously and confidently, reaching nearly 100% target language.
- You would like to learn about some different customs and traditions - not just the same old same old! - and how to present them.

Book now at www.ptieducation.org/events

Speakers

Putting you in touch with up to date subject knowledge

Philippe Marlière is a professor of French and European Politics at University College London. He was educated in France, where he completed a BA and an MA in Law studies. Philippe wrote a PhD dissertation in Political Science at the European University Institute (Florence, Italy), he was a researcher in political science for the CNRS (Centre National de la Recherche Scientifique), and was awarded the Marcel Liebman Chair in political science at the Université Libre de Bruxelles in 2018.

Teacher Leader

All of our days are developed and led by practising teachers

This day will be led by Chris Pattinson, Head of Department at Ullswater Community College. Chris is passionate about the use of classroom language and media to promote spontaneous speech and grammatical understanding. The languages department at Ullswater Community College has been involved in the PTI's School Programme since 2016.

Workshops

Workshop 1: Routinely spontaneous - how classroom routines can be used to support the use of target-language by students, and how these can be exploited and developed to increase students' knowledge of grammar and use of spontaneous speech.

Workshop 2: Traditions for talking - how the theme of customs and traditions can be used as a starting point for the development of extended speech in students.

"Excellent ideas and resources to bring speaking to life on a daily basis within lessons."

- 2018 MFL CPD day participant

About The PTI

We know that for every student in every school, every teacher matters.

The PTI is a charity run by teachers, for teachers. We re-engage teachers with their specialist subjects, inspiring them to bring enthusiasm into class and raise the aspirations of their pupils.

www.ptieducation.org