

Kunst und Architektur: Eine grosse Diskussion

Monday 9 December 2019 | St James the Less, 4 Moreton Street, London SW1V 2PS

Improve students' speaking skills through engaging them with German art and architecture

- Develop ideas and resources for teaching grammar and language through art, and training students to speak spontaneously and accurately
- Enrich and expand your knowledge of German artists and architects, as well as artistic and design movements that will bring the topic to life
- Discover strategies for maintaining full target-language use while also increasing the cultural and philosophical aspects of lessons

"It has reminded me of how fun teaching can be, which sometimes - with all the workload - gets forgotten"

- 2019 Modern Languages CPD delegate

This course is for you if:

- You teach German at Key Stage 3, 4 or 5
- You would like to encourage students to speak German using exciting cultural materials
- You want to take interesting and creative resources back to your department

Academic input

Putting you in touch with specialist subject knowledge

Silke Mentchen, University of Cambridge

Silke has been teaching German at all levels of tertiary education since 1994. She is one of two Senior Language Teaching Officers in the Department of German and Dutch at the University of Cambridge, and has published grammar exercise books and online material, such as Upgrade your German (Routledge 2003), Speed up your German (Routledge 2017) and modules on the university's online site.

Max Ernst: Revolutionising the act of seeing - This talk will explore the main ideas underpinning surrealism. Having survived WW1, a group of European artists refused to return to business as usual. Ernst's desire to make looking at a picture an active process, influenced by previous knowledge, interpretation and psychology revolutionised the way we look at art - and reality.

A second speaker to be confirmed, on the topic of German architecture

Workshops

Led by a practising teacher, ensuring relevance to you and your classroom

German art - This workshop will focus on oral exam preparation at KS4, using exciting images to engage students with speaking spontaneously, including describing pictures and discussing concepts.

Architecture: Bauhaus - This workshop will give teachers tools to empower all students to write in German. As well as demonstrating how writing skills can be anchored in culture, we will examine the fascinating world of architecture and how it shapes and guides behaviour.

This day will be led by Claudia Marsh, a subject leader and passionate teacher of languages. She believes that lesson planning should be imaginative, rich in culture, and, above all, anchored in the target language. Claudia is an MFL Lead Teacher for schools in Brighton and Hove.
